51. Replacement Van

One of the council's vans had developed a misfire, and investigations had shown that it needed a new engine. The garage had put a starting price on repairs of £4,400. It was therefore not economical to repair.

A new van had been identified, a Citroen Dispatch, which was available immediately. A full service history had been supplied and its condition had been verified by the council's motor mechanic. Price comparisons for equivalent vans had been circulated.

It was resolved that the van be purchased.

The meeting was closed at 6.40pm.
